Bay mayor proposes reduced 1990 budget

BY D.C. HARVILL

There will be no increase in Bay St. Louis' municipal taxes or utility rates in fiscal 1990 according to a proposed budget presented by Mayor Edward A. Favre at a city council meeting Tuesday evening.

Favre said there will be an increase in residents' total tax bills due to a 12 to 15 percent increase in Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District taxes.

The city's general budget is $2,464,645 and the utility budget is $2815,005 for a total of $5,279,650. The figure is $275,000 less than last year's budget.

"No new administration likes having to start off with a $275,000 cut over last year's budget, but that is what we are doing," Favre said.

The cut will be reflected across the entire budget, not in any particular items. The cut also does not mean there will be a decrease in services, the mayor said.

"In fact we are trying to increase services," he said.

Among the improved services included in the budget are a renewed neighborhood watch program, new zoning ordinance and map, utilities in areas not currently served, a road maintenance program and a drainage program.

The mayor said he hopes to improve services by reorganizing city crews to perform routine work systematically, beginning on one end of the city and working across town.

He also said savings may be realized by incorporating free labor into city crews.

"If, in cooperation with the sheriff, we can get prisoners and co-op workers to perform janitorial services, and other jobs we are paying people for now, we can save the city money. "We have already incorporated prisoners into our road crews. The prisoners are happy because they get to spend time out of jail and we are happy because the city saves money, the mayor said.

The mayor stressed that the prisoners who work for the city are non-violent and "normally are local people".

After the budget is finalized, the mayor said the city may actually be able to reduce utility Bay High students are returning to school today after a summer off and the younger ones are sitting in classrooms which have never been used before.

Superintendent Robert Magee said two new wings added to what was formerly Bay Senior High School were finished "just in time" for the school year.

The school is now serving as a high school-junior high complex. The former Bay Junior High on Second Street has become Bay Middle School, housing fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

Students start classes

in new building today

Bay High was the last school building in the district to receive an addition in a districtwide building program. North Bay Elementary School and the old junior high were renovated, while Waveland Elementary School added another classroom building. Still to be completed are a multi-purpose building which will house a band hall, chorus room and fine arts center and an auditorium. The design for the latter was approved by the school board earlier this month. The two new wings on Bay High, which are attached to the original building and the dome housing the cafeteria by covered walkways, cost about $1.2 million to build. Construction began as the last school term ended.

The new building provides room for about 24 classes, Magee said.

Attendance law affects all six to 17-year-olds

BY D.C. HARVILL

The effort to boost Mississippi up the ladder of economic prominence will in turn receive a boost from education laws that go into effect this school

The Compulsory School Attendance Law this year requires that all children who have attained six years of age on or before Sept. 1 and who have not attained the age of 17 years of age on or before the same date be enrolled in an accredited education program.

"Only through education can we achieve economic competitiveness," Hancock County Youth Court Judge Michael D. Haas said of the ultimate goal of the law.

The Compulsory Attendance Law is mandated by the 1982 Education Reform Act and has been phased into effect over the past several years.

Because the law is expected to cause a large increase in the number of children required to attend school, Haas announced the appointment of a new attendence officer for Hancock County last week.

The new officer, Yvonne Landry, joins Attendance Officer Frank McNeil.

According to Haas, new amendements education laws make parents responsible for seeing that their children attend school.

"There are too many children who have nothing better to do than get into trouble. We have a serious drug problem here and the lack of education is a major contributing factor. It's surprising how many children we encounter who can't read and write," Haas said.

Among efforts to combat the juvenile drug problem is the "Sentence to Learn" program, in which the Youth Court orders juvenile delinquents to enroll in an education program, Haas ATTENDANCE—PAGE 2A

Two charged in Lombardo death fight extradition

Two California women charged with the Christmas 1985 murder of a Bay St. Louis man have refused to return to Mississippi.

The women, Fran and Mari Elizabeth Lombardo, are accused of killing Frank Lombardo, whose charred body was recovered from from his McDonald Lane home that had been gutted by a fire.

An autopsy showed that Lombardo had been shot two times, earlier on the day of the

and Mississippi Highway Investigator B.R. Sibley went to Santa Ana, Calif. last week to arrest the women and return them to the Coast.

According to Murphy, the duo, who had originally waived extradition proceedings, refused to return Monday in Santa Ana Municipal Court.

The women will have to return to Mississippi. It is just a matter of time, according to the chief.

Extradition could take 60 to 90 days, Murphy said.

The two suspects are also being questioned in the death of a former Hancock County resident, Kendrick Ladner, 33. whose burned body was found last October in an Orange County park.

Under new education amendments, parents now will be held responsible for their children's school attendance, according to the judge.

"The state doesn't have primary responsibility for children, that is the responsibility of the parents," he said. The Youth Court is responsible for enforcement of all school laws, Haas said. "We will work with the parents to get them to comply with the law. If they don't comply then we will take them into court and order them to comply. If they refuse, then they will be fined or placed in jail.

"The governor has made it clear that this is his top priority and it is my top priority. Many dropouts become delinquents, and I would rather spend my time trying to keep them in school instead of trying to keep them out of people's homes,

Mosquito protection advised as killer virus is reported

Announcing Mississippi's first reported human case of Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE), State Epidemiologist Dr. Ed Thomspon warned state residents to protect themselves from mosquito bites.

Dr. Thompson said a Jones County youngster who lived with his family in a heavily wooded area died of EEE.

"Eastern Equine Encephalitis is a rare disease," Dr. Thompson emphasized, "with only 46 human cases reported in the United States from 1965 to 1975. But during the past month, several horses in Harrison and Lauderdale Counties and one in Alabama-across the state line from Monroe County, Miss.—have died from confirmed or suspected EEE.

State Department of Health Entomologist Dr. Jerome Goddard said Eastern Equine Encephalitis "is a virus harbored in birds which is occasionally transmitted to horses and humans by mosquitoes. Cases occur along the eastern seaboard and Gulf Coast of the United States as well as in Canada and Central and South America.'

EEE affects all ages but is particularly severe in infants and children. Disease characteristics include a sudden onset of high fever, vomiting, drowsiness or coma, twitching, and severe convulsions.

Up to 50 percent of people who display such symptoms and develop the disease die, Dr. Thompson said. Survivors of the disease under five years of age often suffer mental retardation or paralysis; most people over 40 who survive recover completely.

No specific treatment is available, he mentioned, but appropriate medical care can improve chances of survival.

Several mosquito species transmit the EEE virus. Dr. Goddard said. In Mississippi, the main vectors to humans and horses are Aedes Taeniorhynchus, Aedes sollicitans, Aedex vexans, and Coquillettidia perturbans.

Both Aedes Taeniorhynchus and Aedes sollicitans breed in salt or brackish water in salt marshes along the coast, and Aedes vexans is an inland floodwater mosquito. Coquillettidia perturbans breed in swampy areas containing such "emergent vegetation" as cattails and rushes.

"Surveillance shows that we do have the virus present in bird populations on the Gulf Coast," Dr. Thompson said. "People in Harrison and Jackson counties as well as in northern Jones, southern Japser. Lauderdale and Monroe counties need to be particularly cautious, but all Mississippians should take steps to reduce exposure to mosquito bites." Dr. Thompson suggested that people should:

 Avoid being outdoors after dusk, when mosquitoes are most active.

 Make sure windows and doors are adequately screened.

Over the years there have been pre-season football games in the professional ranks.

This year there will be one pre-season game per local high school football team and they get underway tonight.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will open with pre-season play when they host the Stone County Tomcats with the kick-off set for 6:30 p.m.

Bay High's Tigers will play host to Poplarville in Bay St. Louis with a 7 p.m. kick-off.

The Rock A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will journey to Ocean Springs for an encounter with the Greyhounds at world Guyton was born in Oxford, and had an outstanding academic record at Ole Miss, where his father, Dr. Billy S. Guyton, was dean of the twoyear medical school then located on the Oxford campus. After graduating from Harvard Medical School in 1943 and then serving in the Navy in World War II, by 1946 Guyton was well on his way to becoming a cardiac surgeon. Then, at the age of 27, he was stricken with

The disease virtually robbed him of mobility and ended his hopes of becoming a surgeon. He spent nine months recovering at Warm Springs, Ga., a time in which he designed a motorized wheelchair, a leg brace for walking and a hoist for moving patients into the bathtub.

Later, these inventions to free polio victims of many restraints of their handicap would bring Guyton a Presidential Citation.

Back home in Oxford, Guyton devoted himself to teaching and medical research. With his wife, the former Ruth Weigle, whom he had met when he was at Harvar I and she at Wellesley, they raised a family that is a story in

The Guytons have 10 children-eight sons and two daughters-nine of whom are already doctors and the 10th is entering Harvard Medical School this fall.

So brilliant are the Guyton children that it is alleged when one of the Guyton boys (the girls went to Wellesley) was given a "B" in one undergraduate course at Ole Miss, it touched off an investigation. In the early days of his teaching career at the Ole Miss medical school, Guyton made his own laboratory instruments in his home workshop. His first computer was one he built himself. (As a teenager in high school he built his first oscilloscope.)

Over the years, Guyton is reputed to have been offered far more money than Mississippi can pay him to go elsewhere, but he has chosen to remain in his home state. "Every time I looked somewhere else, it didn't look as good," Guyton says.

The idea of having an Arthur C. Guyton Day was conceived by Jack Stuart, a Morton businessman and civic entrepreneur extraordinaire, who has raised more than $100,000 for the events which include a medical symposium earlier in the day.

All of this attention, says the good doctor, "is embarrassing." But Ruth Guyton, who knows him best, is proud Mississippians are giving Arthur a party.

The "Reflections On Life" column by Father Jerome LeDoux in the Sea Coast Echo always makes excellent points. People are not really taught how to handle the emotions of hurt and Spouse abuse, child abuse. murder, demonstrate that fact. However, society is beginning to address these issues. Attitudes are changing.

Our community is now saying to the individual that he/she is responsible for his own behavior. No one makes someone abusive. That individual makes Help is available. Counseling, education, shelter, jail are alternatives to violence. The Gulf Coast Women's Center offers an anger management group counseling program for men to understand, recognize and manage the anger that controls them.

New subscriber commends investigative reporting

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my appreciation for the July 27 article by D. C. Harvill on possible harm to the environment from proposed Advanced Solid Rocket Motor tests at Stennis Space Center. The article was thoroughly researched and comprehensive enough to do justice to the complexities of the subject.

The story was journalism at its best, because by first making us aware of a controversial project, and then showing us the issue from all sides, it allows us to form an opinion based on facts. We shouldn't be kept in the dark about projects at Stennis or elsewhere that may affect our health and quality of life, or that of generations to come.

I am subscribing to the Sea Coast Echo in hopes of more excellent investigative reporting.

Sincerely, Florence Fetterer Bay St. Louis

For a week each summer, our senses are almost overwhelmed by the sights, sounds, smells and tastes that engulf Founders' Square. Throughout the rest of the year, they linger with us and allow us to reminisce about past fairs and to anticipate coming ones.

The fair reminds us that we are, in a very real sense, all family, linked together by our shared experiences. We know from our heritage that whether in times of triumph or tragedy, our Mississippi family must come together for our common good.

Juge began clarinet lessons with Choina, fullfilling a life-long ambition, after buying a second-hand instrument last year. Whitcombe, a retired professional drummer, has been been practicing hard on the cornet since his retirement. They both credit Choina for encouraging, them to excell in their musical ventures. "It just proves, you are never too old to learn." Choina said. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Family keepsakes keep memories alive

My wonderful grandmother gave me an old beaded handbag she had used as a young bride. A few of the beads were gone and the chain link handle had long before been replaced by knotted cotton twine to make it serviceable during the great depression.

After decades in grandma's cedar chest—where she kept everything old and cherished—the metal frame began to rust. I too packed away this keepsake, running across it from time to time while straightening my closet. Last year I had it framed Some of the objects we possess are significant to us. These objects are cared for, cherished and passed on to future generations with the hope they will continue to be treasured. These objects are our "family keepsakes.'

Keepsakes may reinforce and help to stabilize our sense of who we are. They help us retain memories of people and experiences that have meaning to us. They may provide emotional

What is a keepsake? Heirlooms, collectibles and antiques each have identifiable characteristics, but can also be classified as keepsakes, as shown by the following definitions.

Keepsake—Something kept as a memento, reminder or for sentimental value. A keepsake may also be an heirloom, collectible, antique, reproduction or other object.

Heirloom-A piece of personal property owned by a family for several generations. It may have special monetary value or sentimental value.

Collectible—Any object that is collected other than traditionally collectible items, such as art, coins, stamps and antiques. Collectibles are usually products of the Machine Age and curiosities of the past. Normally, the object can no longer be purchased new. These are the more recent "old things" and may be future antiques.

Antique—Generally, something at least 100 years old, made prior to the Industrial Revolution (1830) and mass production, that has handmade quality, with one-of-a-kind characteristics, and/or with some historial or cultural value. However, even the experts disagree with the true definition of an antique. The commonly accepted definition is 100 years old. Purists, however, use the year 1830 in defining antiques, as this was the year determined by the government for taxation of imported antiques.

2 cups peach pulp 1/4 cup sugar Juice of a lemon Pinch of salt 1/2 pt. whipping cream 2 eggs, separated 2 Tblsp. sugar 1/2 tsp. vanilla

Mash soft, ripe peaches thoroughly. Add the quarter cup of sugar and the lemon juice and dissolve, then pour the inixture into a refrigerator tray and freeze for 45 minutes to an hour.

Beat the egg whites stiff and add the two tablespoons of sugar. Beat the yolks, and fold the egg white-sugar mixture into the beaten yolks. Whip the cream to a thick custard consistency and combine with the beaten eggs.

Flavor with the vanilla, and add the frozen peach pulp, mixing all together rather lightly, then return to the freezer tray to freeze firm—and enjoy!

room for special presentations. It has been used for staff development this week and adapts well to that purpose, the superintendent stated.

Much of the addition is set up for specialized classes such as science, providing facilities not available in the original building.

The space has not only allowed room for the additional students, but room for new class offering. Magee said earlier this week that the new offerings are being based largely on student requests and teacher availability.

"We're trying to put mainly the younger ones in here. We'll have all of the seventh grade and all of the eighth and about half the ninth graders," he said.

"Of course, there will be a lot of going back and forth. They'll go to the old building for keypoarding and that sort of thing, he said.

Magee said most of the furnishings for the building are new, but some rooms have been furnished with available student desks, teacher desks and other items because some of the new things had not yet arrived.

Magee was a principal at Bay High when the original building was constructed. The design, which originally had three domes instead of the two actually built, does not clearly denote a front entrance.

"One of the things I like about the new part is that it gives the building a main entrance," he said, indicating double doors and a broad, covered entryway facing an old faculty parking lot between the cafeteria and one of the exits onto Blue Meadow

dents are expected to attend

Magee said about 900 stu- high school-junior high facility. The original building could school this year at the combined house only about 500 students.

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

Tonight we have something new-pre-season high school football games.

High schools, under a recent decision by the Mississippi High School Activities Association, are playing pre-season games for the first time. The proceeds from these games will pay for the association's new building.

Bay High will meet Poplarville tonight at 7 p.m. at the Bay High field, while Hancock meets Stone County at 6:30 p.m. at Hancock. St. Stanislaus plays Ocean Springs at Ocean Springs.

I think one or two pre-season games for high school players may turn out to be a good idea. No matter how many scrimmages a player may participate in, he still has his own teammates on both sides and isn't in a real game situation.

With a little pre-season experience, even a single game, I'm looking for improvement in season openers. (I don't count the annual spring games because they are so far removed from the season itself. A lot can change in the months between spring training and fall practice.)

Any coach will tell you that in high school football, a lot depends upon the mental attitude of ballplayers. Even an experienced player with a bad case of the opening night jitters isn't going to turn in his best performance.

However, I have heard it argued that too many preseason games can be too physically hard on younger players, and for that reason I have to agree with the idea of limiting pre-season play to one or two games at most.

Jim Turcotte of Bay St. Louis took the grand master trophy at the Gulfport Job Corps-sponsored 5K run this past Saturday. Turcotte's time for the race was 20:01.

The only other local runner to place was Herb Smith of Pass Christian, third in the 40-44 division with a time of Congratulations to both of you.

Don't forget the skateboard and freestyle bike riding competition Saturday at Wal-Mart parking lot! Entry fee for the event, sponsored by "Team Holocaust" and Hancock County Recreation Association, is $5.

Registration and warm-ups begin at 2 p.m. with competition to follow at 3:30. Refreshments will be available and ribbons, trophies and other prizes will be awarded.

Cycles Plus Bicycle Club has an ATB off-road ride set for 9 a.m. Saturday at Airy Lake. For details, call the shop at South Mississippi Soccer Club Under-12 Select Tryouts will be 9 a.m. Saturday at Milner Stadium in Gulfport. Registration fee is $40 and more information is available from Carl Graham at 832-0566 or 928-5211, ext. 219.

We had some local players who did well on select teams last year and hope to have even more this season.

Scheduling is now in progress for the autumn-winterspring riding lesson and horse training program at instructor Auriol Hessemer's riding school facility in Pass

Winner of Diamondhead Tennis World's Friday tournament this week was Santos Seireira, an exchange student from Brazil, Pro Lis Lagarde said. Paris Johnson of Diamondhead and Doug Underwood of Tallahassee, Fla., tied for second place.

SSC travels to Ocean Springs in first pre-season jamboree

Special to the Echo By Tom Ackerman

The 1989-90 football season will get off to an early start this year, some two weeks earlier than usual for the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws as they take on the Ocean Springs Greyhounds tomorrow night beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Rocks added the game to their schedule when the Mississippi High School Activities Association decided to sanction pre-season jamborees for the first time in recent memory.

Although spring jamborees are a matter of course for most Mississippi high school football teams, fall inter-school scrimmages have not been allowed.

All proceeds of the jamborees played throughout the state will go to the MHSAA to fund the construction of a new administration building for the association.

"This game will give us the opportunity to see what we've got," said Rock-A-Chaw head football coach Ken Lyons. "It will help us see if we're on the right track."

Unlike most Mississippi teams, the Rocks do not usually participate in spring jamborees.

"I like inter-squad games in the spring," Lyons said. "This pre-season game will be a lot more beneficial. It will give us that game experience we need before we meet our first scheduled opponent.

"In the past two years we lost to Pope John Paul in the first game of the season on errors and fumbles," Lyons continued. "Hopefully we'll be able to polish our offensive and defensive games, and see what our kickers can do. We'll get to see our Omar King Hebert will play one personnel in action and make whatever adjustments are necessary.

Possible starters for tomorrow's contest against the Greyhounds include:

On offense, senior Cedric Smith, a three-year starter, will be calling the plays at quarterback.

side, with the other side up for grabs by junior Brian Potter, senior Andre Charlot and senior Tommy Jennings.

Jim Brue, a senior, and sophomore Mark Cina will play the line at tackle, with junior Galen Smith at wide receiver and junior Brian Martin and sophomore Mickey Quinlan vying for the other receiver

At one fullback slot is semior David Alexander, with senior Gary Ponthieux and junior Scott Peterson sharing time on the other side Junior Ken Booker and senior Shannon Garrett will fill the running back slots. Newcomer Neil Alford, a junior, will play

BHS Tigers, Hawks to be featured tonight in pre-season football

BY DENA BISNETTE

Pre-season high school football games being played tonight will raise funds for a new building for the Missis-sippi High School Activities Association.

The games, being played under a recent association decision, include Hancock North Central's Hawks against the Stone County Tomcats at Hancock. Kickoff time is 6:30 p.m., Head Coach Irvin Favre said.

The Bay High Tigers, playing their first game under a trio of new coaches, take on Poplarville at 7 p.m. at Tiger Stadium. New Head Coach Dodd Lee and his assistants, Donnie Bond and Walt Esslinger, are dealing with a 3-A school facing a 4-A school before the season has even started.

St. Stanislaus will play an away game at 7:30 p.m. in Ocean Springs, facing the Ocean Springs Greyhounds with about two weeks to go before regular season play

Favre commented on the preseason games, saying, "It's a first in Mississippi, and I see it as good and bad."

"What's good about it is that we'll be able to see and maybe correct the problems we have. We can look at them and really analyze them."

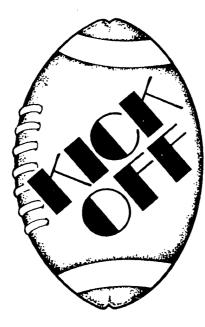

The drawback is that you could get somebody hurt. That's our major concern. Of course, we're always worried about injury," Favre added "It's like any other game to us except we're not putting emphasis on it."

He also said that he plans to try to put in as many Hawks as possible, including the younger players, to give all of them some experience in an actual game situation.

The Hawks have about 20 returning players with about four of last year's defensive starters and about five on offense, but also have a number of new people.

"The pre-season game will also give the fans a chance to kind of get in the football mood," he said.

Raiders anticipate improved season

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders will kick off the 1989 home football season this Saturday night at St. Stanislaus Stadium against Chamberlain Hunt Academy from McComb. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Under the direction of new coach Jack Hutchison, a 1986 graduate of Livingston University, the Raiders hope to improve its 0-10 record from last season.

Hutchison brings to Coast Episcopal a 15-5 high school coaching record over the past two years.

Hutchison said last year, the Raiders played their first season in 11-man football after spending the past several years in an eight-man conference. The team, which only scored two touchdowns, gained valuable experience last year and is ready to improve its record, said

The Raiders played their first 1989 game aganst Sylva Bay Academy last Friday night and lost 26 to 0.

Returning from last season will be five seniors, fullback and <sup>5</sup>nebacker Hutson Lambert, tallback and linebacker Scott Covode, offensive and defensive tackle Jamie White, center and defensive end Scott Hourn and

LYME DISEASE

Many newspapers and magazines are carrying articles about Lyme disease and how it is spread by ticks.

Most of the ticks people will encounter in Hancock County are harmless. Only certain species of ticks carry the bacteria that cause the disease.

This is not to say Hancock County is completely safe from ticks that do carry Lyme disease. Always take precautions against any tick.

Avoid tall grasses and bushes. Wear high boots and tuck pants inside those boots.

Use an approved tick repellent before entering grassy or woodland areas.

Two species of ticks in the South that do carry the disease are the Lone Star tick and the deer tick. If a carrier tick bites you, you may develop a skin rash. An inflammation of redringed circles may spread outward from the bite site.

Other symptoms include fever, chills, aching muscles, headaches, dizziness and swollen joints. See your doctor if you develop these symptoms because the disease can be 13 touchdowns, and Eric Underwood, a starter in the first two games last fall before suffering a fractured collarbone.

Redshirt freshman William "Sleepy" Robinson and a trio of true freshmen, Todd Jordan, Handy Campbell and Kelvin Knight, are also in the thick of the QB race.

"Our quarterback position is wide open, said Felker "Tony Shell is listed as our No 1 a- d he'll start out pre-season practice on top of our depth chart But the position is wide open We're looking for somebody who has the hot hand during two-adays someone who comes to the front and shows us that he can make things happen and lead this football team."

A noteworthy strength on the 1989 squad is at the right end position, where senior Jesse Anderson has returned following a year at running back and sure-handed Sam Wright, MSU's most prolific tight end, are neck and neck in a tight race for the starting spot.

"I don't know a team in the conference that has two better tight ends," said Felker. "Sam is a proven player who caught 29 passes last fall, the most ever by a Mississippi State tight end. And Jesse has great ability which he proved when he led our team in rushing and was among our leaders as a receiver last fall. Without a doubt tight end is the position that's the

strongest on our football team

Defensively, the Bulldog's are looking for leadership from the likes of senior safety Bo Russell. who logged a team-best four interceptions last fall, redshirted junior defensive lineman Demetrius Hill and senior inside linebacker James Williams.

"Demetrius has worked harder this summer than anybody on our football team to get ready for the 1989 season, Felker said.

"He's in the best shape that I've seen him in and appears to be ready for a real good year. And James Williams has every. thing you look for in a linebacker. He's strong. He's got good quickness. And he finds a way to be around the football. He led the SEC in total tackles last year and is definitely an allconference linebacker."

And what are the keys to a successful 1989 season for Mississippi State? "It's going to be critical for us to stay healthy and as injury-free as possible," he said.

"And it's going to be important for us to have something good happen to us early. When you're looking for that key ingredient in terms of turning things around, you need something positive to happen early to get your confidence up and some momentum going. The is what happened in 1986 and that's what we need to have happen in 1989."

"Specialized rods can make anyone a better fisherman," explains Carver. "Not only do they cast better, they also hook better. The rods we use today are so sensitive that just a fraction of an ounce weight difference between lures will affect their castability.

"At the same time, we're using more and more specialized bass fishing techniques, and many rods have been designed to make these techniques even more effective."

Flipping is one example, points out the Johnson Outboards pro. Another is deep crankbaiting, which also demands a longer rod but one with a slow and sensitive tip. Virtually all crankbait rods feature graphite butts and midsections fused to a limber fiberg-

How many of these special rods should the average angler consider?

"I'd say a serious bass fisherman who wants to improve his catch rate, just like a golfer who wants to improve his score, should seriously look at about five types of rods," recommends Carver.

First, I'd suggest a 71/2 -foot rod for flipping. This is a stiff rod designed to handle fish at close range. This rod won't have a lot of other applications in freshwater, but it will work well for light saltwater.

"Next, I'd recommend a long, limber-tip rod for crankbait use. The extra length provides for longer casts as well as for deeper fishing. You can also use this rod for topwater fishing. "A third rod would be a shorter 5% -foot, fairly heavy action rod for spinnerbaits. I like a short rod for this because I like to cast underhand to docks and overhanging trees, but many

The other two rods Carver suggests are a medium-heavy action rod for plastic worms and jigs, and a spinning rod to handle light lines and lures.

"When looking at rods," says Carver, "put a reel and a lure on the rod and make some casts before you purchase. It is very difficult to tell much about today's rods simply by waving them in the air

U.S. Coast Guard captain's license to boaters' advantage

Boat operator licensing is a subject that is currently being debated and seriously considered by many states. Some, such as Maryland, have already adopted modified licensing programs for youthful

Because of the steadily increasing numbers of boaters on the nation's waters and the threat of mounting boating accidents and deaths, state authorities and legislatures throughout the country have been looking to licensing for increased controls and improved safety. It is reasonably certain that operator licensing will become commonplace in many areas. They only question is when. But, let's pose another question. Wouldn't it make sense to possess the best license available before these restrictions

become a reality? A U.S. Coast Guard license, because it is issued by the feder-al government, will certainly supercede any state-issued licensing requirements.

Authorities from some states have acknowledged that there would be no need for state testing of a USCG federally licensed person. States that adopt licensing would undoubtedly waive any of their basic testing requirements for an experienced and currently licensed

Besides the logic of becoming a captain before state licensing becomes a fact, there are other benefits.

For one, you are much better trained and knowledgeable than the vast majority of other boaters on the water. Also, you may actually be able to profit from the investment in your boat by taking passengers for hire. Your captain's license is likely to mean tax breaks even if you are only operating a parttime business.

Likewise, you should be able to take advantage of substantial reductions in your pleasure boat insurance costs.

Bryan, who set two national high school free throw records (316 for 383 for the season and 1,187 for 1,574 for her career), was named to both the Converse All-American and Converse Academic All-American squads. She was also an honorable mention selection for USA Today's All-American squad.

Bryan said she is excited about attending Pearl River, which she first visited as a junior. She first heard about the school while playing in the Capital Classic, which is held in Jackson each season.

Polly Kirkland, the Lady Wildcat coach, said the addition of a high school All-American deciding to attend PRC will mean a lot.

During that career she earned a number of honors, including a first-team all-state player for two years, receiving the Sweet 16 (state tournament) Class C MVP award and being named to the all-district squad five times.

Bryan will not be the only notable contribution Ward III is making to PRC's program, however. Wendy Clark, who started 203 consecutive games from Ward III and was an all-district selection four years, will be joining the Lady Cats also.

"We've played together since the sixth grade," Bryan said. "She's my best friend."

During four of the years the pair played for Ward III, they helped the team to a state championship in 1989, two seasons that took them to the quarter finals of the state tournament and once to a second place finish in the state tourney. Clark, a 5-7 guard/forward, averaged 8.6 points per game in high school and hit 56 percent of her shots from the floor as a senior.

MSU prepares for Sept. 2 opener with Vanderbilt

The anticipation and excitement of the 1989 football season continues to build in the Mississippi State University football camp as Coach Rockey Felker and his staff step up prepara-tions for a Sept. 2 season-opening matchup with SEC foe Vanderbilt.

Some 41 first-year Bulldog footballers, including 19 scholarship freshmen, reported for pre-season drills Aug. 6 and were joined three days later by 68 returning veterans.

"I'm excited about the upcoming season," the fourth-year Bulldog coach said during MSU's annual pre-season Media Day activities on campus Aug. 10.

"Returning 19 starters, players who have played a lot of football for us and have been to a lot of different stadiums across the South and know what college football is all about...that has to help our football team," he continued.

"We're going to have the most talented Mississippi State team in my four years at State. Our overall speed will be better than it has been and we're much more competitive strength-wise than we have been," the coach said.

Felker, also likes the chemistry of his coaching staff, which includes seven new faces following some off-season changes.

"This is the best staff that I've ever had," he said. "I've got experienced people under me who are excellent football coaches and teachers."

Of prime importance during the early practice sessions will be solidifying the quarterbacking position, where two experienced starters from last fall are battling it out with a redshirt freshman and a trio of true rookie signal-callers.

Listed as the early 1-2 quarterback are juniors Tony Shell, who passed for 1,884 yards and 13 touchdowns, and Eric Underwood, a starter in the first two games last fall before suffering a fractured collarbone.

Redshirt freshman William "Sleepy" Robinson and a trio of true freshmen, Todd Jordan, a Handy Campbell and Kelvin Knight, are also in the thick of the QB race.

"Our quarterback position is wide open," said Felker. "Tony Shell is listed as our No. 1 and he'll start out pre-season practice on top of our depth chart. But the position is wide open. We're looking for somebody who has the hot hand during two-adays...someone who comes to the front and shows us that he can make things happen and

Diamondhead Boaters Association

Special to the Echo By Liz and Bud Barnes

The festive tradition of the Diamondhead Boaters continued with the annual "Racing On The Bay" carnival held on Satur-

The program for the day called for a series of five dinghy races on the Bay of St. Louis followed by a buffet and presentation of prizes at the Seabreeze Lanai at Diamondhead Marina.

An armada of Diamondhead boats rendezvoused on the Bay at the appointed time. But alas, as with our April on-the-water outing, the weather did not fully cooperate. Twas actually a heautiful day, but just a bit too choppy for the skills some of our intrepid racers later demonstrated. The fleet thus repaired to Diamondhead Marina where an abbreviated racing program overlapped an unabbreviated program of sustenance.

Although there seemed to be more, the vessels of record and their captains among the armada on the Bay included Aleta, Chucky Howard: At Ease, Mike Doherty; Backlash, Charlie Simpson: Cajun Cruiser, Joe Lavergne; Don't Worry-Be Happy, Tim Holt; Eagle I, Dave Settle; Kaybee II, Johnnie Bargar; Lazy Bones, Harrie Devine; Lazy Liz, Bud Barnes; Margie's Mink, Terry Millar; Nancy J, Norm Shuback; Parson's Boat, Ernie Parson; Rainbow's End, Strabo Claggett; Rebel Yankee, Don Marshall; Sea Lark, Roy Keel; Sea Taxi, Dan Q. Smith; and the Silver Bullet, Commodore Jack Willson.

It may well be that the dinghy races were enjoyed more by being in the marina which provided improved viewing and audience participation.

> The first included four Fishermen": Jim Ashley, Andy Euwing, Bob Galvey and Jack Willson. Ashley crossed the finish line in a runaway leaving a traffic jam in his wake amid cries of "foul" However, it was determined that the fouls were equally distributed and thus null and void.

The start of the second performance, including the "Fillies": Penny Bamber, Missy Marshall, E. J. Smith and Pat Stafford, were slightly delayed while the ginghy manned by Stafford was towed to the starting line.

Bamber won a half-course length although Marshall was showing definite signs of mastering the art of rowing and might have challenged her in a second heat. The final race involved the two "Old Salts" Johnnie Bargar and Roy Keel and a misfit in this category. Bud Barnes made the mistake of asking chairman Mike Doherty, for reporting purposes, who was in the next race; I believe the British Navy used to call what happened next as "pressing into service." Bargar embarrassed his opposition by crossing the finish line a quarter course length ahead. This reporter has reliable information, however, that he was seen practicing at "Devil's Elbow" for days in advance of this event.

The final event (and some said the best) involved target practice with water-filled balloons about the size of softballs. The propelling device provided was a large three-man slingshot designed for such sport. The target was Commodore Jack Willson laid back in a dinghy in the harbor. However, the accuracy of the slingshot with such inexperienced marksmen finally frustrated some of the participants who seemed to have more than their share of desire to hit this particular target.

Thus the three-man slingshot was abandoned in favor of the one-arm throwshot which provided only slightly more accuracy: two direct hits in some 25 attempts. Not being satisfied that car commodore had received sufficient recognition, Andy Euwing finished him off with a water hose.

Prizes for the above events were bottles of California Chardonnay wine especially labeled "Diamondhead Boaters Racing At The Bay—August 12, 1989." One was awarded each participant. The excellent beef barbecue buffet was catered by Jay Guidry of the Bayou Cajun Cafe in Baton Rouge.

Plaudits go to event co-chairmen Jack Willson and Mike Doherty and to co-workers Barbara Doherty, Cecile Ballard, Peggy Lavergne and Barbara Smith for another outstanding Boaters' uprising.

THE GREAT AMERICAN INVESTMENT.

MSU prepares for Sept. 2 opener with Vanderbilt

The anticipation and excitement of the 1989 football season continues to build in the Mississippi State University football camp as Coach Rockey Felker and his staff step up preparations for a Sept. 2 seasonopening matchup with SEC foe Vanderbilt.

Some 41 first-year Bulldog footballers, including 19 scholarship freshmen, reported for pre-season drills Aug. 6' and were joined three days later by 68 returning veterans.

. "I'm excited about the upcoming season," the fourth-year Bulldog coach said during MSU's annual pre-season Media Day activities on campus Aug. 10.

"Returning 19 starters, players who have played a lot of football for us and have been to a lot of different stadiums across the South and know what college football is all about...that has to help our football team," he continued

"We're going to have the most talented Mississippi State team in my four years at State. Our overall speed will be better than it has been and we're much more competitive strength-wise than we have been," the coach

Felker, also likes the chemistry of his coaching staff, which includes seven new faces following some off-season changes. "This is the best staff that I've ever had," he said. "I've got experienced people under me who are excellent football coaches and teachers."

Of prime importance during the early practice sessions will be solidifying the quarterbacking position, where two experienced starters from last fall are battling it out with a redshirt freshman and a trio of true rookie signal-callers.

Listed as the early 1-2 quarterback are juniors Tony Shell, who passed for 1,884 yards and 13 touchdowns, and Eric Underwood, a starter in the first two games last fall before suffering a fractured collarbone.

Redshirt freshman William "Sleepy" Robinson and a trio of true freshmen, Todd Jordan, Handy Campbell and Kelvin Knight, are also in the thick of the QB race.

"Our quarterback position is wide open," said Felker. "Tony Shell is listed as our No. 1 and he'll start out pre-season practice on top of our depth chart. But the position is wide open. We're looking for somebody who has the hot hand during two-adays...someone who comes to the front and shows us that he lead this football team."

A noteworthy strength on the 1989 squad is at the right end position, where senior Jesse Anderson has returned following a year at running back and sure-handed Sam Wright, MSU's most prolific tight end, are neck and neck in a tight race for the starting spot.

"I don't know a team in the conference that has two better tight ends," said Felker. "Sam is a proven player who caught 29 passes last fall, the most ever by a Mississippi State tight end. And Jesse has great ability which he proved when he led our team in rushing and was among our leaders as a receiver last fall. Without a doubt tight can make things happen and end is the position that's the strongest on our football team."

Defensively, the Bulldogs are looking for leadership from the likes of senior safety Bo Russell, who logged a team-best four interceptions last fall, redshirted junior defensive lineman Demetrius Hill and senior inside linebacker James. Williams

"Demetrius has worked harder this summer than anybody on our football team to get ready for the 1989 season," Felker said.

"He's in the best shape that I've seen him in and appears to be ready for a real good year. And James Williams has everything you look for in a linebacker. He's strong. He's got good quickness. And he finds a way to be around the football. He led the SEC in total tackles last year and is definitely an allconference linebacker.'

And what are the keys to a successful 1989 season for Mississippi State?

"It's going to be critical for us to stay healthy and as injury-free as possible," he said.

"And it's going to be important for us to have something good happen to us early. When you're looking for that key ingredient in terms of turning things around, you need something positive to happen early to get your confidence up and get some momentum going. Th. t's what happened in 1986 and that's what we need to have happen in 1989."

"It's not that the other rods won't do the same thing. It's just that certain rods do certain things better."

This is known as specialization, a trend that began several years ago in the rod building industry and which is now in full swing for both rods and

"Specialized rods can make anyone a better fisherman," explains Carver. "Not only do they cast better, they also hook better. The rods we use today are so sensitive that just a fraction of an ounce weight difference between lures will affect their castability.

"At the same time, we're using more and more specialized bass fishing techniques, and many rods have been designed to make these techniques even more effective."

Flipping is one example, points out the Johnson Outboards pro. Another is deep crankbaiting, which also demands a longer rod but one with a slow and sensitive tip. Virtually all crankbait rods feature graphite butts and midsections fused to a limber fiberg-

How many of these special rods should the average angler consider?

"I'd say a serious bass fisherman who wants to improve his catch rate, just like a golfer who wants to improve his score, should seriously look at about five types of rods," recommends Carver.

First, I'd suggest a 71/2 -foot rod for flipping. This is a stiff rod designed to handle fish at close range. This rod won't have a lot of other applications in freshwater, but it will work well for light saltwater.

"Next, I'd recommend a long, limber-tip rod for crankbait use. The extra length provides for longer casts as well as for deeper fishing. You can also use this rod for topwater fishing.

"A third rod would be a shorter 51/2 -foot, fairly heavy action rod for spinnerbaits. I like a short rod for this because I like to cast underhand to docks and overhanging trees, but many

Because of the steadily increasing numbers of boaters on the nation's waters and the threat of mounting boating accidents and deaths, state authorities and legislatures throughout the country have been looking to licensing for increased controls and improved safety.

It is reasonably certain that operator licensing will become commonplace in many areas. They only question is when. But, let's pose another question. Wouldn't it make sense to possess the best license available before these restrictions become a reality?

A U.S. Coast Guard license, because it is issued by the federal government, will certainly supercede any state-issued licensing requirements.

Authorities from some states have acknowledged that there would be no need for state testing of a USCG federally licensed person. States that adopt licensing would undoubtedly waive any of their basic testing requirements for an experienced and currently licensed

COAST EPISCOPAL SCHOOLS Public Relations Director Mary Mizell and Lambert Boyd

Coast Episcopal's Boyd flexibility is his forte from tennis to classroom

Lambert Boyd is described by Coast Episcopal High School Principal Linda McCulloch as being "the soul of the school."

Boyd, who is now officially an administrative assistant, began teaching eighth grade at Christ Episcopal Elementary School in 1962. His wife, the late Helene Boyd, was secretary and physical education instructor at that time.

He no longer teaches a class, but can be found in the office where his responsibilities are

Tuesday morning found him working out the transportation schedule for the bus route, answering the telephone and dealing with students and parents on the hectic second day of school.

He is also called upon to be a plumber, electrician and handyman at times as "there are mostly ladies around" and he has a knack for fixing things.

Boyd has coached the tennis team for several years and has taught an occasional class at the high school. He also works with the students in a one-onone situation, as in a pre-law class he taught recently.

The Kansas City native gave up a law practice to move to the Gulf Coast to be closer to his parents and found a permanent

He was one of the original incorporators of Christ Episcopal School and watched the school grow to accomodate a high school. The original building was destroyed by Hurricane Camille before it was occupied.

He has no plans to retire and told administrators in jest that he wouldn't quit—they would just have to fire him.

McCulloch replied "We expect him to work here until the end of the century-and then we'll negotiate."

When I was a sixth grader at Our Lady of the Gulf Elementary School (now Bay Catholic) in 1965, Roosevelt Carter was the resident jack-of-all-trades janitor.

He no longer drives a school bus, because he says most people drive their children to school. All of his other duties remain the "Morning, noon or night, anytime there is a problem, Roosevelt is there to help," she said.

He begins his work day at 9 a.m. and checks out around 6 p.m., with most of his cleaning chores done after school dismisses. On Saturdays and throughout the summer, he works at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. "Everything has always run smoothly," he said, with the only near-catastrophies in his memory related to his bus-driving days. According to one teacher, sometimes he is stretched a little thin trying to service the whole school, but he gets the job done.

Jacobs mans counter at Bay St. Louis public schools for 34 years

Josie Jacobs has been a secretary in the Bay St. Louis public school system for 34 years.

Clerical duties often take second priority to the students' needs in a school secretary's job. Jacobs, on any given day, has played the role of nurse. mother, psychiatrist, disciplinarian, mediator and on and on.

"I just love it," the petite brunette said. "It's been my life." Admitting the salary has never been an enticement, Jacobs has remained long after she could have retired because she finds the work rewarding.

"I am now meeting the grandchildren of some of the students from the old Bay St. Louis school of 1956, which housed grades one through 12," she

When North Bay Elementary

School was constructed in 1960, Jacobs began there as school secretary and has remained through 29 school seasons.

Both of her daughters are employed at North Bay. Kathy Chapman is a fourth grade teacher, while Betsy Jacobs teaches second grade.

"On most days I just wave to them in passing," she said.

Her favorite part of the job is the interaction with the endless stream of children who pass through the doors at North Bay.

Plans for retirement are not in her future at the moment, as she looks forward to seeing those former students' grand-children "graduate" from chunky crayons and rounded edge scissors to the middle

Make that 400 slices of pizza at Hancock North Central schools

Imagine planning lunch for 400-five days a week...and liking it. Hancock North Central School system cafeteria manager Myra Peterson of Dedeaux does just that.

The kindergarten through high school students must be wisked in and out of the cafeteria in 20 minute intervals. Lunch begins at 10:35 a.m., for handicapped children who need special attention, until 1 p.m. when the last trays are returned to the kitchen.

In that short time, Peterson routinely makes her rounds through the large room encouraging the smaller children to "just try one bite."

A dedicated employee, according to Superintendent Terrell Randolph, Peterson started working in the dishwashing room 14 years ago. After one year she was promoted to assistant cafeteria

One of the 16 cafeteria workers is assigned to each child with a special diet to insure that his needs are met.

Peterson's favorites are the kindergarteners, whom she assists with baking projects as part of their arts and crafts classes. She also provides them with raw vegetable trays to introduce them to healthy snacks.
